

Class of 1990 25th Reunion

Our 25th Reunion in June 2015 is a special milestone. We share memories of our time at Williams, renew friendships, visit familiar places and forge new connections. It is a defining moment for the Class of 1990 as we create a lasting legacy by presenting the college with our Class Gift.

While we reflect on what a Williams' education meant to us, we have the opportunity to ensure the future for generations of students to come.

Our gift has two parts: The Alumni Fund and The Class of 1990 Memorial Scholarship. We ask that you help us make this milestone reunion a success by making a gift to the Alumni Fund and to our class scholarship. Be it a one-time gift or a five-year pledge, the 25th Reunion is one of only two times that we can make a collective gift to Williams. The Class Gift is transformative for students. It is an investment in the future of intellectual life at Williams.

The Alumni Fund

The 25th Reunion Class Gift is the cornerstone of the Alumni Fund. Williams couldn't maintain its academic and athletic excellence or its overall reputation as one of the top colleges in the country without the extraordinary support our class has provided for 24 years. Let us once again show our vigorous support by breaking our own class records for participation and dollars raised this year.

“ We support Williams. We push Williams. We create Williams. Each of us in our individual identities, and together, as a community—we all are Williams. ”

- Adam Falk, President

The Class of 1990 Memorial Scholarship

Williams has always seen itself as part of the democratic experiment that America represents, bringing together the very best students from across the nation and around the world, regardless of their ability to pay. Williams believes in undergraduates. Remarkable freedom and resources are at their disposal thanks to the generosity of alumni.

The relationship between students and faculty is the foundation of Williams' liberal arts education, which is marked by deep commitments to excellence, exploration, and rigor and provides students the finest preparation for career and life.

Financial aid is a generational responsibility at Williams. Each generation that has come before has added to the resources of those who will come to Williams in the future. Let us keep that legacy alive and continue to "pay it forward."

How You Can Help

In the upcoming weeks, one of our 25th Reunion class volunteers will call to ask for your generous support of our Class Gift.

Reunion is a chance to reconnect with what we value most about Williams. It is an opportunity to make a lasting gift to ensure the things we appreciate as Ephs are extended to the rising generation.

We need your help to achieve this worthy goal. Please respond generously when called upon by your classmates.
